

Cromwell Girls Took Passage On La Lorraine

Message Says Twins Were on Ship From Which Their Suicide Was Reported

Vessel Is Due To-morrow

Brother Does Not Believe Sisters Leaped to Death While on Way Home

PARIS, Jan. 25 (By The Associated Press).—The American Red Cross headquarters here, in answer to inquiries, says it has been informed that the Misses Dorothea and Gladys Cromwell sailed on the French liner La Lorraine, friends of the twin sisters accompanied them to the pier.

The officer in charge of the Red Cross party on board the ship sent by wireless to the Red Cross a copy of the note found in the stateroom occupied by the sisters in which they said they intended to commit suicide.

In spite of this message from France the family and friends of the twin Cromwell girls still refuse to credit the news that the sisters committed suicide on their return voyage to this country after a year of Red Cross work at the front. They are reported to have jumped overboard from the steamer La Lorraine.

Only one more link is needed in the chain of evidence. That is direct word from the steamer which is now drawing toward New York from the open sea. All day yesterday Seymour L. Cromwell, brother of the New York society girls, made ineffectual efforts to reach the vessel by wireless. Up to a late hour last night he had received no answer to his messages.

Cabled Last Tuesday

One cable message received last Tuesday by the brother informed him that his sisters had missed La Lorraine and were waiting on the steamer. The message is still in port at Bordeaux, according to information given out at the port of embarkation. Officials of the French line say La Lorraine sailed Sunday and is due in New York Monday or Tuesday. They do not expect to hear from it before that time.

La Lorraine left port on schedule time and the sisters were on board, as the most recent Associated Press dispatch indicates. Their suicide must have taken place Monday, on which day the steamer was sailing down the Gironne River. In that case the report of their suicide which was received here yesterday with the date January 24 must have been delayed. This may have been due to delay in the report made back to French officials by the Red Cross officer on board La Lorraine.

Red Cross Aids Brother

Red Cross officials were aiding Mr. Cromwell yesterday in his efforts to learn the truth. At his home, 187 East Seventy-fourth Street, Mr. Cromwell said that he could not give credence to the report until it was verified, because recent letters from his sisters indicated that they were on the ship. Although he could not reconcile the cable message which he received with the note they left in the cabin stating they intended to "end it all," he maintained that there must be an error somewhere and warned his relatives and friends not to believe the report too hastily.

The cheerfulness of the brother, who to his brother seemed to be discounted by the statement of a Red Cross worker in Bordeaux, Miss Hartnett, who told an Associated Press correspondent that there was a possibility of the Cromwell sisters having become dependent because of the long strain of their work.

It was thought yesterday, because of the fact that the age of the Cromwell girls had been incorrectly reported, that two younger girls might have been the ones to leap from the ship. This now seems improbable, as it has been established that the girls were twenty-two, but wrongly received in New York. The twins were twenty-two instead of thirty-two years old.

The sisters were returning to their home at 535 Park Avenue, a fashionable district, after service at Chalons-sur-Marne with a Red Cross canteen. Their apartment still is being prepared for them. They inherited a large share of the fortune of their father, the late Frederick Cromwell, of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Slayers of Subway Agent Are Defiant as Judge Orders Death Penalty

More than one thousand men and women clamored for admission to the Bronx County court yesterday when three young men were sentenced to die at Sing Sing, March 3, for the murder of Otto Fialo, ticket agent of the Intervale subway station, last November.

The prisoners were James P. Cassidy, twenty-one, who was known to the police as a Harlem gang leader; Charles F. McLaughlin, twenty-two, of 205 East 104th Street; and Joseph Milano, twenty-two, of 104 East 122d Street.

When Cassidy was asked if he knew of any reason why the sentence of death should not be imposed upon him, he replied defiantly:

"Go ahead. I have no objection."

Fialo was killed during an attempt to rob the Intervale station. Cassidy and his companions were convicted by a jury last week.

Anthracite Mines Plan Curtailment Of Wartime Output

Dealers Say Garfield Has Aided in Demoralizing Industry by New Orders; Talk of Part Time Work

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 25.—The extremely mild weather during the last few months, together with Fuel Administrator Garfield's action in ordering the shipment of bituminous coal into territory where it never had come into competition with anthracite, has greatly demoralized the hard coal business.

Announcement that the anthracite operators are to curtail their output by running the mines on short time may be expected any day.

Hundreds of dealers throughout the country have cancelled orders during the last few weeks, presumably for fear that unfilled orders would not reach them until after April 1, when there is usually a cut in price of 50 cents a ton.

All the mining companies are desirous of working only part time, but no one wants to take the initiative, fearful of earning the ill will of Administrator Garfield. And when the break comes the excuse probably will be given that the colliers are much in need of repair. And there will be more than a modicum of truth in the assertion, for they have been worked at top speed for nearly two years.

But the real reason is that there is a dearth of orders and that mining under present conditions is unprofitable.

Never before have miners earned as much money as they have during the last eighteen months. A sudden shut-down of operations might spell trouble throughout the region. A large percentage of the miners and laborers is foreign born. With work brisk and their semi-monthly pay envelopes containing from $75 to $100, the emigrants of the I. W. O. and other agitators have fallen on deaf ears.

Under present conditions, the possibility of trouble looms large, particularly with tens of thousands of men suddenly thrown into idleness.

But, regardless of the results, the announcement may be expected soon that the mines will cease to work six days a week.

$600,000 Suit Started

Inventor Wants Sum for Use of Oil Locating Device

More than $3,000,000 and a device to locate oil wells, described as a "radium device," are involved in a suit for $600,000 filed yesterday in the Supreme Court by Dr. Hugo von Hagen against Karl J. Schumacher.

Dr. von Hagen is a mining expert, graduate of Heidelberg University and possessor of a University of Chicago degree. Dr. von Hagen, owner of the oil finder, alleges that he agreed with Mr. Schumacher—said to be a buyer of the Standard Oil Company, of New York, in May, 1917, to allow him the use of the magic instrument in exchange for one-sixth of the proceeds realized from the discovery of oil tracts, which the inventor says, have amounted to more than $3,000,000.

Dr. von Hagen alleges that oil was discovered on twenty different tracts, covering 23,704 acres of land in Texas, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma and Kansas.

John F. Seager, of Wall Street, in Breach of Promise Action

John F. Seager, secretary and treasurer of the Westinghouse-Church-Kerr Company, at 37 Wall Street, was sued yesterday in the Supreme Court by Miss Margaret K. Watson for $200,000 damages for alleged breach of promise.

Miss Watson says that prior to February 18, 1918, the date of the alleged promise, she was a moving picture actress and stenographer. She alleges the wedding was set for October. She says she devoted herself to Seager and nursed him in his illness.

She describes Mr. Seager as a man of great wealth and complains that she became accustomed to a mode of living which is now denied her because of Seager's failure to marry her.

Influenza Increases

Influenza cases reported to the Department of Health increased in the greater city again yesterday after having shown a decline for the previous two days. There were 627 cases reported, an increase of 26. There were 95 deaths, 25 more than on Friday. Pneumonia cases increased from 128 on Friday to 134 yesterday. There were 115 deaths, an increase of 18. The biggest gain in influenza was in Brooklyn, where 242 cases were reported, against 80 on Friday.

Yesterday's figures on influenza and pneumonia follow: Manhattan, 198 and 43; Brooklyn, 242 and 49; The Bronx, 140 and 30; Queens, 29 and 6; Richmond, 28 and 6.

Father Saves Son Loss Of $6,000 and Liberty

LOCAL.—Puz's shru shru shru. After having established his ownership to $6,000 in cash which he had checked in the subway station at 149th Street and Third Avenue, the Bronx, Henry Mason, 26, of 541 East 152nd Street, was discharged yesterday in the Morrisania court by Magistrate William Sweetzer.

Mason's arrest occurred because he had lost the check for the purchase of money. Detectives who investigated charged that he had stolen the cash from his father, a hardware dealer at 530 Grand Street. The father told Magistrate Sweetzer that the money was his own property.
